

Thomas H. Fox '61. Tom Fox has been involved in international development since 1965, when he was hired by the Peace Corps as a staff member in Africa. Highlighted by a Presidential appointment as Assistant Administrator of US Agency for International Development for Policy and Program Coordination, he has held senior management positions at USAID (twice), Peace Corps (five years living in Africa), Volunteers in Technical Assistance, the Council on Foundations, and the World Resources Institute. Currently, he is Chairman of the Board of ELMA Philanthropies, the program arm of a new and quite substantial foundation addressing issues that affect children and youth in Africa.